"I have participated in the DiSC training three times with other companies and this has by far been the best one."

"This training was great! I learned how to interact, communicate, and lead employees with a variety of personal styles. Plus, this training has me thinking about how my personal style impacts the organization and how to correct where it is needed."

"This training was well-paced and very informative. The environment generated for the training was great."

"The most valuable thing I learned from the training is how important it is to structure the way you say and do things based on other peoples' personal styles. It is very important to keep in mind their stressors and motivators."

"The training was very interactive. It showed that you can be honest with people about their strengths and weaknesses. The material was very clear!"

"I was very impressed with the training facilitator. Her mannerisms, professionalism, and expertise were very captivating and intriguing. She truly made the seminar interesting."
