Tails and Tales of Remote Learning and Engagement

Companion Worksheet

As more companies shift from temporary to potentially permanent remote work options, with dogs barking in the background and uncertainty around childcare, employees are adapting their work strategies. As HR leaders, we also need to adapt to meet employees where they are and create a meaningful, engaging remote work experience.

Today's Objectives

Discuss successful virtual facilitation of professional development

Share information, technology, and resources for effective virtual engagement

Learn best practices for engaging remote learners with different work styles and personalities

3 TIPS!

How to Do Virtual Learning Well

#1 Set Clear Expectations

During or prior to your virtual session, outline expectations.

#2 Allow Flexibility

Everyone appreciates some level of control over their learning environment.

#3 Be Available

Provide participants with your preferred method of communication and make it a habit to return calls, texts, and emails within 24 hours.

Case Study:

Virtual Professional Development

Case Study

A large manufacturing organization has been training their leaders in person for the last two years. Most recently, non-MOPs were trained in groups of 20 in full-day classes covering two competencies:

- (a) Understanding Yourself and Others
- (b) Personal Leadership and Time Management

When the traditional training method was disrupted by health and safety risks, only 20% of the non-MOPs had completed training. The HR team had to pause and reevaluate training options.

Q: What questions would you ask?

Is the training still valuable?

- Understanding Yourself and Others
- Personal Leadership & Time Management

Can it be successfully delivered virtually?

- What activities are involved?
- Is the trainer comfortable with virtual delivery?

Positive Outcome

The manager took this feedback to the trainer. The trainer had experience using Zoom as a virtual meeting and/or training room, using features like Breakout Rooms and Polls, so together the trainer and the HR manager adapted the program to meet the new needs of the organization.

All non-MOPs now have equal opportunity for this professional development.

The VARK Questionnaire

VARK Questionnaire version 8.01

Choose the answer which best explains your preference and click the box next to it. Please click more than one if a single answer does not match your perception. Leave blank any question that does not apply.

I want to learn how to play a new board game or card game. I would:

- use the diagrams that explain the various stages, moves and strategies in the game.
- watch others play the game before joining in.
- listen to somebody explaining it and ask questions.
- read the instructions.

I need to find the way to a shop that a friend has recommended. I would:

- write down the street directions I need to remember.
- find out where the shop is in relation to somewhere I know.
- use a map

Remote Work FITness

- ★ Conscientiousness
- ★ Self-Sufficiency
- ★ Reasoning Ability

If a student or employee is not strong in these areas, they are likely to struggle with remote learning and engagement. What training and support can you offer them?
